My CLOSE-UP Imo

MY HOME COMFORTS

Fridge staples I eat a lot of carrots. I'm slightly scared that I'll wake up one morning bright orange, having been Tango'd by a carrot.

Weirdest habit Dancing like a mad person – usually when I'm in a huge rush. I'll jump around to George Harrison's 'Got My Mind Set On You', then walk off five minutes later and think, 'Phew, job done.'

Signature dish I'm not exactly a whizz in the kitchen, but I can whip up a mean bowl of oatmeal. It's so tragic.

Guilty pleasure Falling asleep listening to music. It's quite nice waking up at three o'clock in the morning to hear Leonard Cohen playing.

MY WAR PAINT

Favourite fragrance I used to wear Yves Saint Laurent's Baby Doll, but now it's got to be Chloé eau de parfum, above left – I bathe in it. I picked up my first bottle at the airport when I was about 19, so it has a few years' nostalgia behind it.

Beauty necessity I'm into Laura Mercier's brow pencil, left, big time, but it's addictive. A lot of the time I end up making myself look like a man.

Everyday essential Neutrogena face wipes are probably the first thing I'd save if my bathroom cabinet was on fire. And all my Ren face stuff, top far left and below.

Skin saviour Dr Hauschka does a gorgeous quince day cream, top right – apparently you can eat it.

Hair hero Aussie shampoo and conditioner, below left. I've no idea what they do for your hair, but they smell insanely good.

Sun screen I'm fair-skinned, so I wear minimum SPF30 – Clinique's, top centre, is great.

MY INSPIRATIONS

Bedtime reading A Farewell to Arms and The Sun Also Rises are two of my favourites. Hemingway was a total genius.

Escape route Walking around the East Village in New York. In London, I love all those weird empty bits behind the Tate Modern.

Top travel destination Florence, for its beautiful chapels and frescoes, although San Francisco is next on my hit-list. I've read amazing things about it by Fifties travel writers. It obviously won't be the same, but I've still got to see it.

Greatest extravagance I spend a lot of money on music. It's such a treat to go into Sister Ray in Soho and have a rummage.

Best present My mother gave me a necklace with a metal origami swan hanging from it. It's so precious to me.

On my iPod I've always got my headphones in, but my taste in music changes depending on where I am. When I was filming in New Mexico, I listened to all this crazy blues music. At the moment I'm going through a massive doo-wop phase.
